

4.9 INTERNET

The library supports a patron's right to access Internet resources as an extension of our physical collections, and endorses the Canadian Library Association's Statement on Intellectual Freedom.

The library cannot guarantee the security and the confidentiality of any transaction, particularly ecommerce transactions.

Library patrons are expected to use the computers in accordance with the public nature of the library. Internet and wifi users may be required to register with the library.

Internet workstations do not have any content limitations, and we expect parents or guardians of minor children to assume responsibility for their child's use of online services.

Users must not install software on Squamish Public Library computers, and no alterations or damage to the library's hardware is permitted.

Use of library computers for illegal, actionable or criminal purposes or to seek access into unauthorized areas is prohibited.
